

Corporate philosophy

The premise of our daily business operations is characterised by our desire to create a solid, sustainable basis for a future of the company, its customers and employees. As part of the SAINT-GOBAIN group headquartered in Paris, it is our goal to achieve dynamic added value in the company through homogenous and healthy growth, thus contributing to share holder value.

Orientation of our services towards customer satisfaction is always at the core of our efforts, together with the flexible adoptions to our ever-changing environment whilst protecting ethical and ecological values. Product advantages, market awareness and a partnership-like customer relationship are the basis of our operations. Our future is created by qualified employees who are guided by corporate solidarity in their preparedness to achieve. Further education as well as humanitarian and material comfort should thereby lead us. We approach problems with courage and constructively and solve them in an objective and fair manner taking ethical values into consideration. Every one of our employees performs an irreplaceable part of our continuous product and service development within the framework of our quality management system.

Through innovative and high-value products and services we ensure our technical advance and our future after the motto: MORE THAN GLASS. As Austrian market leader in flat glass processing, our products and technology take into account our responsibility to the environment and resources. Protection of the environment is the foundation of our corporate responsibility.

We strive to guarantee sustainable material procurement. In manufacturing and distribution of our products and services we use resources such as energy, water and raw materials in a responsible manner.

Our respect over and above current environmental laws as well as acknowledgement of the importance of environment-relevant questions, ECKELT's contribution to sustainability is continually checked and improved upon.

Our employees behave in responsible manner towards their community and environment and personally contribute to proactive environment protection. We continuously improve solutions and develop innovative concepts to create environmentally friendlier and sustainable living space.

Guaranteed sustainable solutions from a solid subsidiary of the SAINT-GOBAIN GLASS Group.
